DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

Withdrawn Rejections

1. The 37 CFR 1.75(c) objection to claim 3 and the 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph rejections of claims 1-8 in Paper # 8 (mailed 06/04/03) have been withdrawn due to Applicant's amendment of claims 1-3 and cancellation of claims 4-8 in Paper # 10 (filed 09/22/03).

New Rejections

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

3. Claims 1-3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Misawa et al. (US 5,548,073) in view of Claussen et al. (US 5,272,259).

Misawa et al. teaches that it is common to have a polyvinyl alcohol type (or a derivative thereof) polarizing film containing, in a substrate for the polarizing film, a water soluble dye represented by the following formula (A) in the form of a free acid (column 1, lines 15-70) shown on the next page, wherein X of Applicant is the NO₂ (nitro group) on the left end of molecule (A) which is the copper complex salt. An analogous uncomplexed formula (14) is shown above formula (A) on the next page. Since the sulfonate (SO₃H) groups on opposite sides of the stilbene moiety, which forms the leftmost portion of the dye molecule, have greater steric stability trans to each other instead of cis as represented on the next page, it is the examiner's position that the more stable trans isomer as claimed by Applicant is present in the greater amount in the azo dye.

Although Misawa et al. demonstrates that the common dye of formula (A) has inferior polarity (column 27, lines 45-70 and column 28, lines 1-5) compared with the azo dyes of Misawa et al, Misawa et al. does not teach that it cannot be used.

Misawa et al. is directed to a polarizing film with two or more dyes used in combination to provide a neutral color (column 2, lines 5-20). The polarizing film can be laminated with a protective film (column 9, lines 5-15).

Misawa et al. fails to teach that the phenylamino substituent on the sulfonic acid-substituted naphthalene moiety, which is the far right portion of the dye molecule shown on the next page, is replaced by a phenylazo substituent:

Art Unit: 1772

Claussen et al. teaches a polyvinyl alcohol type (or a copolymer) polarizing film containing, in a substrate for the polarizing film, a water soluble dye in the form of a free acid (abstract) directed to produce a neutral color with uniform dichroism (column 1, lines 50-55) with the following formula I (column 2, lines 1-30) below:

wherein X, Y signify $-N=N-R$ and R can be the moiety below:

and wherein R^{11} is a substituted or unsubstituted phenyl radical (column 3, lines 10-15).

Since both Claussen et al. and Misawa et al. are directed to polyvinyl alcohol type films comprising an azo dye to form a polarizing film with neutral color, they are analogous art.

Therefore it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to have used a phenylazo group as taught by Claussen et al. in place of the phenylamino substituent on the naphthalene moiety of the common azo dye molecule in the prior art disclosed by Misawa et al. in order to obtain a polarizing film containing a dichroic azo dye molecule with uniform dichroism.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-3 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

5. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
